University Transcripts

Request your transcripts from your current university. Mail the sealed transcript to UC International Admissions.

Course-by-Course Evaluation

Course-by-course evaluations of all non-U.S. university transcripts by a member of the National Association of Credit Evaluators (naces.org), such as World Education Services (wes.org) are required. The evaluation must have both a cumulative GPA and the number of credit hours taken. Have the evaluator send UC both the course-by-course evaluation and the original, official university transcripts.

CONDITIONAL ADMISSION

UC offers conditional admission to undergraduate and graduate students who meet academic coursework requirements, but need English language training.

UC partners with ELS Language Centers (els.edu) to offer conditional admission. The Cincinnati ELS Language Center is located on the University of Cincinnati's Main Campus.

Benefits of completing your conditional admission requirements at ELS:

- Opportunity to enroll in up to two courses at UC while studying in ELS Level 110 or above
- Eligibility for the UC Global Scholarship
- Access to UC facilities including the library and recreation center
- Direct access to UC admissions officers

TEST SCORES

Proof of English Ability

UC uses the following tests for Proof of English Ability.

- SAT-I
- IELTS
- ACT
- TOEFL
- ELS CERTIFICATE
- PTE (Pearson Test of English)

English Language Requirement Exemptions

There are only three conditions for being exempt from taking a standardized test to demonstrate your English ability:

1. You have taken a full year of high school or college in the U.S. and earned a passing grade in one year of standard English (not ESL).
 - This must be shown on your transcripts.
2. You have earned a passing score on the O-Level Exam.
3. You are from an exempt country.
(Visit admissions.uc.edu/international for a full list.)
4. You have passed the first year of IB English with a score of 5 or higher.

Proof of Math Ability

The Proof of Math Ability requirement may be satisfied by submitting scores from any of the following exams:

- SAT-I
- ACT
- UC Math Placement Test
- IBDP (IB Diploma predicted scores)

UC Math Placement Test (MPT)

The UC Math Placement Test (MPT) is an alternative to the SAT or ACT, providing an accurate measure of a student's mathematics ability. The MPT may be taken by undergraduate students who have not met the Proof of Math Ability through either the SAT-I or ACT. Most academic programs at UC will accept the MPT as an alternative to SAT-I or ACT scores. The test lasts approximately 50 minutes, and scores are available to the student immediately after taking the test. The MPT measures an individual's ability in the fields traditionally covered in U.S. high school courses, including:

- Algebra
- Geometry
- Trigonometry
- Pre-Calculus

The MPT can be taken at a number of locations around the world, at any time of the year. Please contact international.admissions@uc.edu to learn more or make arrangements.

Note: The following programs do not accept the MPT:

- Architecture
- Fashion Design
- Graphic Communication Design
- Industrial Design
- Interior Design
- Nursing

“The Chinese community at UC is more like a family to me rather than a group of friends. When I first came to UC, I did not know anyone on campus. After only a few weeks, I made so many great friends through the Chinese community that I forgot all my worries. I know that they will always be there for me when I need help!”
